

WEISMAN CENSORED

Artist Sharon Chohi Kim uses artist Elana Mann's sculptural instrument in part of a video installation formerly displayed at the Frederick R. Weisman Museum of Art. The University named an interim museum director after parting ways with the director who curated the censored and shuttered exhibition.

See NEWS | A3

Photo courtesy of Elana Mann

Photo by Melissa Houston | Photo Editor
Design by Betsy Burrow | Creative Director

Opinion: Gash's presidency shouldn't have been extended

Jim Gash has been president of Pepperdine University for six years, and his presidency has recently been extended. Perspectives Staff Writer Noah Burton argues Gash has had a net negative impact on the University and his tenure should not have been extended.

See PERSPECTIVES | A9

Students find fall in a place that feels like summer

As fall arrives in Malibu, Pepperdine students find a way to celebrate the season, even though the weather hardly changes. They bring the spirit of autumn to Southern California.

See LIFE & ARTS | B1

Up and Comers Vol. 4: Fall stars rise

With a new school year comes a new slate of athletes. Pepperdine Athletics continues to move in the right direction with the rise of these young stars.

See SPORTS | B5