WELCOME TO BOWLING GREEN

Eclectic eating and cultivating community.

In Kentucky's third largest city, with an extensive, diverse selection of restaurants, you would think it would be easy to decide on a place to eat, right? But with so many options, one can't help but get a little overwhelmed. This guide is here to help.

Bowling Green is known as the home of Western Kentucky University, Corvettes and Lost River Cave, but it's also home to a rich culture — clearly exhibited in its cuisine. This thriving community offers a wide variety of original and chain restaurants, with everything from locally-grown products and classic crowd favorites, to ethnic delicacies and elaborate desserts.

As you thumb through these pages, allow your indecisiveness to subside as you feast your eyes on all Bowling Green has to offer.
