

Kylah Brewer, Junior

Contributions to Eagle News Network

I am currently on the Southwest Christian School Eagle News Network Executive Team for my broadcasting class. This is a role that I had to apply to, and be selected by the teacher. I have also served as producer, editor, anchor and reporter for a variety of newscasts and packages, including outside of class projects with the Executive Team.

My Leadership Philosophy

I believe that leadership is a very important skill to have in many areas of life. Whether those areas be academics, extracurriculars, sports, or arts. Not only is it important to just be a leader, but it's important to be able to lead with a number of different qualities and traits. Leading with humility and harmony is ultimately what helps a group to be able to work together and build off of each other positively. Additionally, being able to lead with the group's ideas in mind rather than your own is a skill that is essential to becoming a humble leader. I believe that leadership is a growing skill meaning that you can learn how to lead better over time with different opportunities and groups of people. Also, being involved in such a creative activity like broadcasting can be beneficial to learn how to brainstorm different ideas for a common goal.

Most Proud Leadership Moment

My proudest leadership accomplishment was being given the opportunity to be the captain of my schools' dance team. This position was something I have been working towards for years and the skills and growth I have had over the years has prepared me for the position as well as helped me grow in my leadership skills. Being the captain of my dance team is very similar to serving as the producer of the Executive Team, because of the ability to learn how to work with others and be open to different ideas and groups of people.

A Letter from my Advisor

Kylah is an exceptional leader, editor, and producer. Not only does Kylah lead by example and with integrity, but she also serves as she leaves. Kylah has a passion for media, is a natural storyteller, and is ready for any assignment. She does a great job bringing a team around her and equipping them with the tools they need to excel. - Sydney Moyer
