“...he would do and say these things with intent to get me more comfortable with him.”

“I thought he was someone I could trust.”

“...a concern that existed in 2017 was able to perpetuate itself for many years.”

“Who knows how many other girls this happened to?”

By Myranda Campanella

The Battalion and declined to publish the names or identifying information of the subjects.

Editor’s note: The Battalion does not publish the names or identifying information of the victims or assailants in this article to protect the subjects’ identities. The names of victims and assailants in this article have been altered or removed by the writer. The Battalion does not condone or promote any form of sexual violence or predatory behavior. A victim’s or assailant’s identity is not listed in Fish Camp’s Constitution.

“...while traditions are important, sometimes traditions need change.”

“After Fish Camp, he sexually assaulted her.”

“...he would do and say these things with intent to get me more comfortable with him.”

“I thought he was someone I could trust.”

“...a concern that existed in 2017 was able to perpetuate itself for many years.”

“Who knows how many other girls this happened to?”

By Myranda Campanella

The Battalion and declined to publish the names or identifying information of the subjects.

Editor’s note: The Battalion does not publish the names or identifying information of the victims or assailants in this article to protect the subjects’ identities. The names of victims and assailants in this article have been altered or removed by the writer. The Battalion does not condone or promote any form of sexual violence or predatory behavior. A victim’s or assailant’s identity is not listed in Fish Camp’s Constitution.

“...he would do and say these things with intent to get me more comfortable with him.”

“I thought he was someone I could trust.”

“...a concern that existed in 2017 was able to perpetuate itself for many years.”

“Who knows how many other girls this happened to?”

By Myranda Campanella

The Battalion and declined to publish the names or identifying information of the subjects.

Editor’s note: The Battalion does not publish the names or identifying information of the victims or assailants in this article to protect the subjects’ identities. The names of victims and assailants in this article have been altered or removed by the writer. The Battalion does not condone or promote any form of sexual violence or predatory behavior. A victim’s or assailant’s identity is not listed in Fish Camp’s Constitution.

“...he would do and say these things with intent to get me more comfortable with him.”

“I thought he was someone I could trust.”

“...a concern that existed in 2017 was able to perpetuate itself for many years.”

“Who knows how many other girls this happened to?”

By Myranda Campanella

The Battalion and declined to publish the names or identifying information of the subjects.

Editor’s note: The Battalion does not publish the names or identifying information of the victims or assailants in this article to protect the subjects’ identities. The names of victims and assailants in this article have been altered or removed by the writer. The Battalion does not condone or promote any form of sexual violence or predatory behavior. A victim’s or assailant’s identity is not listed in Fish Camp’s Constitution.

“...he would do and say these things with intent to get me more comfortable with him.”

“I thought he was someone I could trust.”

“...a concern that existed in 2017 was able to perpetuate itself for many years.”

“Who knows how many other girls this happened to?”

By Myranda Campanella

The Battalion and declined to publish the names or identifying information of the subjects.

Editor’s note: The Battalion does not publish the names or identifying information of the victims or assailants in this article to protect the subjects’ identities. The names of victims and assailants in this article have been altered or removed by the writer. The Battalion does not condone or promote any form of sexual violence or predatory behavior. A victim’s or assailant’s identity is not listed in Fish Camp’s Constitution.

“...he would do and say these things with intent to get me more comfortable with him.”

“I thought he was someone I could trust.”

“...a concern that existed in 2017 was able to perpetuate itself for many years.”

“Who knows how many other girls this happened to?”

By Myranda Campanella

The Battalion and declined to publish the names or identifying information of the subjects.

Editor’s note: The Battalion does not publish the names or identifying information of the victims or assailants in this article to protect the subjects’ identities. The names of victims and assailants in this article have been altered or removed by the writer. The Battalion does not condone or promote any form of sexual violence or predatory behavior. A victim’s or assailant’s identity is not listed in Fish Camp’s Constitution.

“...he would do and say these things with intent to get me more comfortable with him.”

“I thought he was someone I could trust.”

“...a concern that existed in 2017 was able to perpetuate itself for many years.”

“Who knows how many other girls this happened to?”

By Myranda Campanella

The Battalion and declined to publish the names or identifying information of the subjects.

Editor’s note: The Battalion does not publish the names or identifying information of the victims or assailants in this article to protect the subjects’ identities. The names of victims and assailants in this article have been altered or removed by the writer. The Battalion does not condone or promote any form of sexual violence or predatory behavior. A victim’s or assailant’s identity is not listed in Fish Camp’s Constitution.

“...he would do and say these things with intent to get me more comfortable with him.”

“I thought he was someone I could trust.”

“...a concern that existed in 2017 was able to perpetuate itself for many years.”

“Who knows how many other girls this happened to?”

By Myranda Campanella

The Battalion and declined to publish the names or identifying information of the subjects.

Editor’s note: The Battalion does not publish the names or identifying information of the victims or assailants in this article to protect the subjects’ identities. The names of victims and assailants in this article have been altered or removed by the writer. The Battalion does not condone or promote any form of sexual violence or predatory behavior. A victim’s or assailant’s identity is not listed in Fish Camp’s Constitution.
enforce the rules, echoing a similar situation in— students themselves — are relied upon to not always follow this protocol. The chairs to director staff and the advisors.”

“Chairs are in the first line of response,” Muñoz said Fish Camp chairs are obligated to report any sexual assault allegations up to executive or faculty advisor levels, camp chairs do not pass sexual assault allegations to the Fish Camp's current status where university officials rely upon the students for reporting. However, as in Ashley's case, the chairs do not always follow this protocol. In 2017, my D.G. mom reported to camp chairs in 2017, my D.G. mom never would have been notified," Brown said in the email. "Thus, a failure to serve freshmen..." Crisafi said. "We try to equip trainees to manage, respect a survivor's independence, help them feel safe, to get to safety and share resources available on campus. fishes.tamu.edu/events/STAND Up Workshops. These are typical-