

Elon, North Carolina - Sunday April 3, 2022

Good afternoon ENN readers,

Our newsroom was busy this week following Elon's Student Government Association Elections, Elon citizens' concerns over the construction taking place on Aspen Avenue, Elon's Mega Challah Bake and more.

Top stories of the week

News

Nadine Jose elected Elon University student body president

With 1817 votes cast in this year's election, only 30% of Elon University's student population voted in SGA elections

Burlington nonprofit, Western Alamance High School students pack care packages for U.S. soldiers

Students from Western Alamance High School, community members work with Crosspoint to put together care packages for U.S. soldiers recently deployed

Lifestyle

Jewish sorority women participate in Mega Challah Bake at Elon University

Chabad brings women together to bake bread and have fun

Politics

Citizens speak against Aspen Avenue construction

Town of Elon locals demonstrate their dismay over traffic the connecting road could bring

Sports

Suffolk natives become softball standouts

Elon and UNC Greensboro softball pitchers from the same hometown now share another connection

Elon Local News

Elon Local News | Full Broadcast | March 28, 2022

ELN Morning | Full Broadcast | March 31, 2022

ENN Radio

Go behind the headlines with Elon News Network, as host Kyra O'Connor talks to reporters and newsmakers about the biggest stories at Elon University.

Listen now on Apple Podcasts

Also available on Spotify and Soundcloud

ALSO IN THE NEWS

At Elon University:

- Students, faculty and staff share thoughts on Women's History Month
- Elon switches E-Alert system to Rave Mobile Safety

Sports Section:

- Elon University softball earns first conference win against Hofstra

In Alamance County:

- Burlington Honda dealership hosts donation drive for Ukraine

Follow Elon News Network to stay up-to-date on local news.

If you want to unsubscribe, click here.