Several Wichita State faculty worry a recent study could be used to justify cutting programs, firing professors and watering down research. A decision by the Kansas Board of Regents this month is expected to shed light on whether those worries are justified.

WICHITA STATE UNIVERSITY’S STUDENT NEWS SOURCE SINCE 1896

S

Several Wichita State faculty worry a recent study could be used to justify cutting programs, firing professors and watering down higher education in the state of Kansas.

By MA HENKEN

A decision by the Kansas Board of Regents this month is expected to shed light on whether those worries are justified.

WICHITA STATE UNIVERSITY’S STUDENT NEWS SOURCE SINCE 1896

S

Several Wichita State faculty worry a recent study could be used to justify cutting programs, firing professors and watering down higher education in the state of Kansas.

By MA HENKEN

A decision by the Kansas Board of Regents this month is expected to shed light on whether those worries are justified.

WICHITA STATE UNIVERSITY’S STUDENT NEWS SOURCE SINCE 1896

S

Several Wichita State faculty worry a recent study could be used to justify cutting programs, firing professors and watering down higher education in the state of Kansas.

By MA HENKEN

A decision by the Kansas Board of Regents this month is expected to shed light on whether those worries are justified.

WICHITA STATE UNIVERSITY’S STUDENT NEWS SOURCE SINCE 1896

S

Several Wichita State faculty worry a recent study could be used to justify cutting programs, firing professors and watering down higher education in the state of Kansas.

By MA HENKEN

A decision by the Kansas Board of Regents this month is expected to shed light on whether those worries are justified.

WICHITA STATE UNIVERSITY’S STUDENT NEWS SOURCE SINCE 1896

S

Several Wichita State faculty worry a recent study could be used to justify cutting programs, firing professors and watering down higher education in the state of Kansas.

By MA HENKEN

A decision by the Kansas Board of Regents this month is expected to shed light on whether those worries are justified.

WICHITA STATE UNIVERSITY’S STUDENT NEWS SOURCE SINCE 1896

S

Several Wichita State faculty worry a recent study could be used to justify cutting programs, firing professors and watering down higher education in the state of Kansas.

By MA HENKEN

A decision by the Kansas Board of Regents this month is expected to shed light on whether those worries are justified.

WICHITA STATE UNIVERSITY’S STUDENT NEWS SOURCE SINCE 1896

S

Several Wichita State faculty worry a recent study could be used to justify cutting programs, firing professors and watering down higher education in the state of Kansas.

By MA HENKEN

A decision by the Kansas Board of Regents this month is expected to shed light on whether those worries are justified.

WICHITA STATE UNIVERSITY’S STUDENT NEWS SOURCE SINCE 1896

S

Several Wichita State faculty worry a recent study could be used to justify cutting programs, firing professors and watering down higher education in the state of Kansas.

By MA HENKEN

A decision by the Kansas Board of Regents this month is expected to shed light on whether those worries are justified.